Life Is Better In Hiking Boots

Have you ever spoken unkindly to yourself? Do you even realize when you do? Are you ready to make changes but find yourself completely paralyzed by the choices in front of you? We live in a hyper-connected, "always on" world, and frankly? It's exhausting. Let's make time to disconnect from the distractions and reconnect with yourself. Hiking My Feelings Stepping into the Healing Power of Nature is more than a collection of trail tales - it's a guide to aid (or begin!) your healing journey, helping you do the work to step up into the best version of yourself. Over the course of our lives, not only do we pick up our own trauma, we carry things for others - their fears, their insecurities, their expectations for how we should live our lives. So many of us are wandering through life wearing an invisible backpack full of those things, and it can be heavy. The weight of the stuff we are silently carrying is killing us slowly. We as individuals and every level of our communities are affected by trauma. When we don't get help, unresolved trauma manifests as mental and physical disease. Join Sydney Williams as she unpacks her "trauma pack", sharing the story of how hiking helped her reconnect to, and heal, her mind and body - kicking her limiting beliefs and Type 2 Diabetes to the curb in the process.

List of Prompts: date, start time, end time, weather, temps, wind, city/state/country, trails/park, terrain, facilities, costs/fees, cell reception, trail type, start and end latitude and longitude, elevation gain/loss, total time, total distance, trail conditions, hiking party, significant observations, Hike Rating, gear thoughts, food thoughts and a large generous area to record other notes and thoughts. This logbook is 6" x 9" and 121 pages long with enough sets of pages to record 60 hikes, journeys or adventures. Use it as a trail journal, trail log book, trail record book, hiking log book, trail log book, field journal or an outdoors notebook. Unique gift for a hiker or if you're a hiker or a family member is it works great for them too.

Women Who Hike

This Hiking Log Book is a great way for anyone to keep track of their hikes in nature. It's laid out in a way to make that easier, including the following sections to record: Basic Info - Trail Name, Date, Location, Companions. Write down the basic information of where, when, and who you're with. Weather Conditions - Using a checklist, you can describe the weather conditions such as clouds, rain, and wind levels. More Info - Start Time, End Time, Duration, Distance, Altitude. You can go into more depth with your hiking with these helpful sections. Terrain Level - Easy to Hard, Trail Type. You can mark how easy or hard it was, and what type of trail it was. Gear & Equipment - Record what gear you brought, to make better choices later. Animals & Plants - Record what animals and plants you see on the way. Overall Hike - Milestone, Time, Note. If you're more of a competitive hiker, making notes about the milestones, and how long it took to get there will be rewarding.

It's Another Half Mile Or So

A collage of backpacking culture, Hiker Trash offers a glimpse of the off-beat, diverse community that is drawn to thru-hiking the country's oldest long-distance trail. It features a collection of original illustrations by author and artist Sarah Kaizar, as well as color photos by Nicholas Reichard and excerpts from the Appalachian Trail's famed shelter log books that highlight hikers' thoughts, fears, frustrations, and joys. Kaizar thru-hiked the AT in 2015, a six-month, 2,200-mile journey through fourteen states during which she had plenty of time to reflect and heal following the death of her father. Intricate and arresting, her drawings are created in pen-and-ink with colorful acrylic washes; they capture the character of the trail and its shelters as well as the hikers who find respite under the roofs and in the log pages. Fellow AT thru-hiker and professional photographer Nicholas Reichard's images provide another layer of perspective and community.

With professionally crafted elevation profiles, 50 maps, and comprehensive tables for more at-a-glance information on-trail. The Appalachian Trail Conservancy and the Appalachian Long Distance Hikers Association collaborate each year on a guide especially designed for potential thru-hikers who want the basic information for a five- to six-month trek in the woods, at a reasonable price, but also want the adventure of finding out the extras for themselves. A favorite of section-hikers and dreamers, too. Still the only such guide written by volunteers for which all the proceeds are returned to the Trail by these two nonprofits. With fact-checking research by more than three dozen thru-hiker volunteers in 14 states, backed by the first-hand information of the trail's volunteer and staff maintainers and managers and extensive information from the 2020 "A.T. Data Book." Equipment-makers' toll-free numbers, post office hours, much more included.
